Marton is 20 years old. He comes from Hungary, but he doesn't live in Hungary – he lives and works in the UK. He is a waiter in a hotel. He earns £6 an hour.

More than 600 000 people from Central and Eastern European countries live and work in the UK. Almost half of them are between 18 and 24 years old and most of them are single. They stay in the UK for about two years and then return to their own countries. Nearly 40% work in factories; many others work in shops, hotels, restaurants and on farms. They come because they earn more money in the UK for these jobs than in their own countries.

But do they like their new home? The answer is usually yes. In a survey of foreign workers in the UK, 92% say that the British are usually friendly. Their only problem with life in the UK is British food: 78% don't like it! But that isn't a big problem, because British supermarkets now sell Central and Eastern European food.

SUPERMUM

Sue Povey gets up at six every morning and makes breakfast for fifteen people. Sue has a difficult job – she works hard every day. Why? Because she's a mother with fifteen children, and thirteen of them live at home.

Sue Povey and her family live in Swindon in the south of England. After breakfast her husband, Ian, goes to work. Sue drives the children to school. (She needs a minibus for this!) Nine children go to school and she drives home with the other four children. Every weekday she looks after the children and cleans the house. She does the washing eight times a day, and she irons clothes for three hours.

Every afternoon at 3.30 she collects the children from school in the minibus. Then she helps them with their homework. After that she cooks dinner for fifteen. Her husband comes home at six. After dinner, she goes to the supermarket with two of her sons. They help her with the shopping. She buys fifty litres of milk a week!

Sue says: 'I love my big family. All the children help me and help each other. I want more children!'

Her husband Ian says: „It's never boring in this family.“

Thomas, 7, says: „I always have someone to play with.“

Katie, 5, says: „I like having new babies in the house.“

And Matt, 9, says: „It's very noisy!“
